

Phyllis G. Hartman

Phyllis G. Hartman, SHRM-SCP, SPHR, the founder and President of PGHR Consulting, Inc., has 25+ years in HR. Phyllis' firm provides HR consulting services for small to midsized companies and organizations. Her work has included Recruitment, Employee Relations, HR Policy Development and Affirmative Action Plans. Phyllis' clients have included consulting engineering, medical, not-for-profit and manufacturing companies. Prior to founding PGHR she worked in HR management positions in manufacturing and not-for-profit associations. She holds an MS in Human Resource Management from La Roche College, and has both Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM) and Human Resource Certification Institute (HRCI) senior professional certifications.

Phyllis is a frequent speaker and has presented a session for the Adhesives & Sealants Council Conference and a variety of programs for business and HR groups. She is an adjunct instructor for several Pittsburgh colleges and universities and in 2015-16 school year served as a full time Professor and temporary Department Chair in HR for La Roche College.

Phyllis has written 2 books: Looking to Hire Looking to Hire an HR Leader? and Never Get Lost Again: Navigating Your HR Career both published by SHRM and she has a third book due to be released in June 2017. She has served in numerous volunteer leader roles with SHRM and is currently a SHRM A-team Captain for Pennsylvania's 12th Congressional District. In her work prior to HR, Phyllis was a construction news reporter and plan room attendant for the Dodge Division of McGraw-Hill Publishing. She does volunteer work for the Ward Home and the Bayer Center for Non-Profit Management and lives in Freedom, PA with her husband Chuck, a retired Electrical Engineer.